Talking points

H.R. 2233 – The States' Rights to Medical Marijuana Act

- Would reschedule marijuana under federal law so that states can decide for themselves on the medical marijuana issue without federal harassment.
- 80 percent of Americans support medical marijuana. The Bush Administration should stop trying to suppress democracy.

H.R. 1717 – The Truth in Trials Act

- Would allow defendants in federal medical marijuana trials to discuss all the facts of the case.
- Currently, the federal government has a gag on medical marijuana defendants; they are not allowed to present evidence showing that they used or cultivated marijuana for medical purposes.

Cheryl Miller, a multiple sclerosis patient, spent the last 10 years of her life fighting for legal access to medical marijuana.

Surely, you can spare the time it takes to make one toll-free phone call to help protect the seriously ill and disabled from federal harassment.
